

Food Giant Plans Prize Beef Special

Some lucky Torrance housewives will be able to serve their families with something really special this week end. Food Giant Markets today announced that a limited quantity of exceptionally high quality steer beef will be placed on sale in all Food Giant Meat Departments on Friday, Dec. 4, at 4 p.m.

These steers, all raised by members of 4-H or Future Farmers of America, were awarded blue ribbons at the Great Western Livestock Show held in Los Angeles on Nov. 23, and were immediately purchased by Food Giant Meat Buyer Maurie Gettleman.

Gettleman advises that anyone interested in purchasing this beef, whether for immediate use or for freezing, come as soon as possible after the meat is placed on sale. Beef of this quality, all USDA Prime Grade, is rarely available.

Gardena Store Quitting; Sales To Move Stocks

The Gardena Exchange Store, 16516 S. Western Ave., is quitting business, owner-operator Jerry Dikeman announced this week.

Headquarters for the shopper looking for everything from typewriters to golfing equipment, and from guitars to electric organs, the Exchange is being closed so Dikeman can concentrate on his auto wrecking and parts firm he operates at 16915 S. Main St.

"I also plan to open a used car lot in the area soon," Dikeman told the Herald.

A FLIGHT inspector at Northrop Aircraft for 10 years and a resort operator in Arizona, Dikeman opened the Gardena Exchange in Gardena's oldest landmark building at 852 Gardena Blvd. five years ago. He moved to the present location later and the old building was torn down.

Managing the Exchange for most of the five years was Hazel Dennis, who is continuing with Dikeman as bookkeeper in the new business ventures, he said.

All merchandise at the store is being sold at drastic discounts beginning today, he said.

WHATEVER is left will be auctioned off on Saturday, Dec. 19, and Sunday, Dec. 20, according to Dikeman's present plans.

So... if you're in the market for an ash tray or an adding machine; a bugle or a bong, chances are the Exchange will have it as a "once in a lifetime" bargain.
